A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Earth has nothing more tender than a woman's heart when it is the abode of piety.
 —Martin Luther.

The comet at least developed a large crop of liars.

After all, times are good or times are bad, just as the people see fit to make them.

The way to build a town is to prosper every concern and individual in that town. The rest will be easy.

A friend in need is a friend indeed, but a friend who has his pockets full of the coin of the realm is doubly welcome.

Many men act as though they were making handsome presents to their wives when they give them money to pay the household bills.

Mr. Bryan sailed for Europe the other day, but there has been no statement in the press or otherwise that Colonel Roosevelt sent for him.

Senator Chamberlain says: "Victory is just ahead of democracy." That is the position victory has held in relation to democracy for a long time.

There is no possible harm in guessing as to the population of the city, but remember that all estimates are made with a margin to provide for shrinkage.

Is it possible the comet refused to keep its engagement with the earth because it did not wish to meet Chancellor Day? If so, the excuse must be accepted.

By the way, it will be just as well for the man who has been kept up at night attending comet parties to find another excuse without unnecessary delay.

Nevertheless and notwithstanding the results, it was achievement of sufficient magnitude to make some people wish they were on intimate terms with Boss Fred Jacobs.

A great many people are frothing at the mouth discussing the long and short clause of the railroad bill, but how many of them could explain what it is all about.

It is evident that Secretary Wilson's cook book is doing its work. According to the press reports the Chicago packers state that the demand for the cheaper cuts has doubled in the past few weeks.

The Prescott Courier was a mighty good newspaper, but really there was not room in Prescott for two good newspapers, and the failure of one was the natural result. In cities the size of El Paso two newspapers have a struggle for existence.

Scientists state that every fly you destroy in the spring means that you have cut off the fly population for the season by many millions. The figures are too much for the common mind to grasp, for the rate at which they multiply is inconceivable.

At the election held in Denver the other day, "Miss" Ellis Meredith was chosen election commissioner, receiving more votes than all of the seven men who were opposed to her. She was married once, but she evidently likes her maiden name better than the name of her husband.

A Moline, Ill., preacher told a Unitarian conference that women are liars. Now he says men are liars. A woman who heard his first statement. Query: When did the preacher lie, statement. I very: When did the preacher lie, in the first statement or the second?

TAG! WE'RE IT!

Current literature has been enriched. Mr. S. R. Guggenheim, president of the Yukon (Alaska) Gold company, in a magazine article, insists that the real cause of living is national extravagance.

His reasoning is clear. People insist on wearing so much silk that silkoline is selling at twice what it was. They demand so high a quality of wool clothing that shoddy is all they can get. They hanker for the choice cuts of meat, and as a result shank and liver has been sent up to 15 cents a pound. They WILL live in mansions, and two-room flats have gone to $30 a month in consequence. It is so all along the line. You can see that it would be so. The demand for luxuries is such that necessities of life are high because nobody wants them! Perfectly clear, Mr. Guggenheim.

All these things tend to reconcile us to the fact that the Guggenheims are gradually cornering the earth, in so far as Morgan and Rockefeller haven't already fenced it in. Perhaps we'd better let 'em have Alaska—Ballinger may have been right about it.

Listen to this fine old bromidiom of Guggenheim: "I believe," says he, "that the wage earner is more extravagant in proportion to his earnings than the millionaire."

Shouldn't wonder a bit! Right in this town wage earners frequently spend for meat to last them over Sunday every blamed cent left over from the week's pay check. Do you happen to know any millionaires who do such a thing? A pipe or two of smoking tobacco after supper will probably amount to one-half of 1 per cent of the laborer's daily wage. Mr. Guggenheim's daily income is estimated at $30,000. One-half of 1 per cent of this is $150. Do you suppose that the thrifty Mr. Guggenheim smokes a hundred and fifty-dollar cigar after dinner? Certainly not. He is much more economical "in proportion to his income" than almost anyone you know.

In order to equal the extravagance of the laborer who drinks a 5-cent glass of beer after his day's work, Mr. Morgan would have to consume 250 quarts of champagne at $5 a quart.

Mr. Morgan doesn't do it! We state this boldly.

Mr. Guggenheim asserts—and we believe he is right—that John D. Rockefeller is the least extravagant man he knows of. Mr. Rockefeller has never been known to slip down to Billy's place on the corner and spend $4,000 playing pool in the evening, as he would have to if he equaled the extravagance—"according to income"—of the stone mason who rolls one game at 20 cents an hour.

But the crowning extravagance in which the poor indulge Mr. Guggenheim never refers to. The poor give up a large—a very large—part of their incomes to make Guggenheims, Morgans and Rockefellers. When they come to real economy, here's where they will begin to cut down expenses. When they have reformed in the matter of supporting millionaires, maybe they will be better able to stand the strain of more chuck steak and codfish.

"The paper says that De Tanque presided at the banquet, but I didn't see him."
 "That's funny; he was right under the head of the table."

"You say she is no longer editor of the 'Woman's Corner'?"

"No. She wrote so many articles on how to make over last year's hats that her readers began to suspect she was a man."

GREATNESS OF OUR COUNTRY

"How big is the United States?" is answered in Poor's Manual of Industrials for 1910, a companion to Poor's Manual of Railroads. These startling figures are given:

The total capitalization of all industrial corporations in the United States is $17,529,000,000; the total capitalization of all railroads is $17,234,000,000.

The total stock issued by industrial corporations in the United States is $13,132,000,000; total bonds, $4,397,000,000. Railroads have issued $7,642,000,000 stock and $9,593,000,000 bonds.

The average rate of interest on bonds of industrial corporations is 5.27 per cent, and 3.88 per cent on railroad bonds. The average dividend rate on industrial stock is 4.02 per cent, and 3.50 per cent on railroad stock.

Gross earnings of industrial corporations representing an aggregate capitalization of $7,163,000,000 were $2,165,000,000 last year. The gross earnings of all railroads were $2,407,000,000.

Light, water and power companies have $2,108,233,079 stock, $1,392,653,050 bonds; mining companies $2,001,925,586 stock, $66,850,265 bonds; telephone and telegraph companies $788,709,274 stock, $352,025,050 bonds, and manufacturing and miscellaneous companies $8,233,035,721 stock, and $2,585,694,207 bonds.

Light, water and power companies paid $63,867,681 in dividends, at the rate of 3.03 per cent; mining companies $58,866,089, or 2.94 per cent; telephone and telegraph companies $37,356,517, or 4.73 per cent; and manufacturing and miscellaneous companies $368,721,516, or 4.17 per cent.
